

2017 Tablas Creek Dianthus Rose

Slightly deeper ruby in color than the Patelin de Tablas Rosé, the 2017 Dianthus Rosé is more Mourvèdre dominated and is always a slightly richer, heftier rose geared for the dinner table. Framboise, ripe cherries, and strawberry notes, as well as hints of spicy herbs, all give way to a medium-bodied, beautifully textured, layered rose that has both richness and freshness. It's another winner from this great estate to enjoy over the coming summer months.

- Jeb Dunnuck (8/25/2018)

© 2018 Jeb Dunnuck | Reprinted with Permission